

European
Crohn's and Colitis
Organisation

Inflammatory Bowel Diseases

Dear ECCO Members,

I am writing to you to thank you for attending the ECCO Congress in Copenhagen in March which was the biggest ECCO Congress to date and a wonderful success.

Among the many highlights of the Congress, our e-Learning platform was one to stand out as a record-year of new e-Learning content and functionality.

When you visit the e-Library, you will shortly find all presentations and webcasts for which speakers granted publication consent together with the Congress abstracts, ECCO papers published in JCC, Y-ECCO Literature Reviews published in ECCO News as well as other educational tools. The new e-Library facilitates user-friendly and high-quality search functions, building on a transparent indexing system for all material as of ECCO'16. Thematic categories used for the e-Library are broadly aligned with the ECCO IBD Curriculum categories and constitute the backbone of the search function. The predefined keywords ensure that the same terminology is used across the whole content of the e-Library to facilitate free text search.

Other highlights from the 14th Congress of ECCO include the recording of new Talking Heads videos on the following topics:

- Top Strategy Trials (2nd edition)
- Mechanisms of Future Drugs
- Postoperative Management of CD
- Scientific Highlights of ECCO'19

Talking Heads

Learning Platform by ECCO

Dominik Bettenworth
Y-ECCO Chair

2ND EDITION OF
TOP STRATEGY TRIALS

John Mansfield
ECCO Member

Gionata Fiorino
ECCO Member

MECHANISMS OF FUTURE DRUGS

Iris Dotan
ECCO Member

Marc Ferrante
SciCom Member

POSTOPERATIVE
MANAGEMENT OF CD

Uri Kopylov
ClinCom Member

PAULO KOTZE
EduCom Member

Julián Panés
ECCO Past-President

SCIENTIFIC HIGHLIGHTS

ECCO'19
CONGRESS

Silvio Danese
ECCO President

In continuation of our series of the Transatlantic Talking Heads, in collaboration with the Crohn's & Colitis Foundation, we captured a great discussion between European and American IBD experts. This time two surgeons talked about "Early Surgery in Ileal CD".

Also, do not miss out on the latest Educational Audio Podcasts which covered these interesting matters:

- Vaccination and IBD
- Psychological Issues in IBD
- Surgical Trends in the Biologic Era
- Non-pharmacological Interventions in IBD

Another item appearing on the e-CCO Learning Platform this Spring is the new e-Course on Interventional Endoscopy in IBD authored by Marietta Iacucci, Rosanna Cannatelli, Takyuki Matsumoto, Toshio Uraoka, Paulo Kotze and Bo Shen.

Finally, I'd like to remind you of other e-Learning elements that are currently in the production pipeline including four new Skills Videos, Webcasts and re-launch of our e-Library. ECCO always strives to keep abreast on the latest developments in IBD that are then reflected on the e-Learning platform, so keep yourself up to date by visiting the e-Learning site and making use of the wealth of educational resources that are available to you as an ECCO member.

Peter Irving