

December 2018: Update from the e-Learning Ambassador

Dear ECCO members,

It is my pleasure as e-learning ambassador to be able to update you on recent developments with regard to the e-CCO Learning Platform.

ECCO has always strived to lead the way when it comes to electronic education resources in the field of IBD and the e-CCO Learning Platform has expanded considerably since its launch in 2013 both in terms of the range of subjects covered as well as the variety of educational activities available. Whilst preparations for the next ECCO Congress in March 2019 in Copenhagen continue to keep the office and the committees busy, the development of the e-CCO Learning Platform has by no means come to a stop. On the contrary, new content is planned for upload over the Christmas period.

Two new Talking Heads videos are going through the final stages of editing and will have been uploaded by the time you read this. In these useful new activities Ailsa Hart and Janneke van der Woude discuss 'Managing Refractory Proctitis', whilst in the other video Matthieu Allez and Tim Raine talk about 'Identifying Poor Prognosis in CD'. I'm sure you will agree that these are two challenging areas in IBD and it is always useful to hear the thoughts of sensible, pragmatic IBD experts whose thoughts may help us when we see patients in our everyday practice.

I'm sure you will also enjoy the four brand new Educational Audio Podcasts dealing with the following topics useful: Mild CD Management, Personalising Therapy, Refractory Pouchitis, and Ustekinumab. These short, bite-sized summaries are perfect for your commute to work or perhaps will keep you entertained whilst going for a run on a cold winter's day.

Inflammatory Bowel Diseases

Another item appearing on the e-CCO Learning Platform this Christmas is the new e-Course on Endoscopy in IBD authored by Marietta Iacucci, Rosanna Cannatelli, Paolo Gionchetti, Uri Kopylov, and Jimmi Limdi. Prior to the Congress in March, 2019, we also aim to bring out another e-Course on Interventional Endoscopy in IBD.

Finally, we very excited that by the time of the Congress, we will be releasing a whole new category of e-Learning material, namely Skills Videos. The aim of the "Skills videos" is to provide education on several topics with tips and tricks from experts on how to perform practical procedures in IBD. We hope that the videos will be useful not only to IBD doctors in training but will also provide updates to the advanced practitioner.

The upcoming Skills Videos will cover the following:

- Endoscopy assessment and management of strictures
- Surveillance Colonoscopy on IBD
- Endoscopy characterisation of dysplastic lesions in IBD
- Endoscopic scoring systems in Crohn's disease

So, don't miss out on the opportunity to test your knowledge and check out all the exciting content on the e-CCO Learning Platform!

ECCO e-Learning Ambassador,

Peter Irving
