

Dear ECCO Members,

I would like to thank my predecessor, Peter Irving, for championing the role of ECCO e-Learning Ambassador and now passing the baton on to me. I am honoured to take on this responsibility and I am thrilled to be able to reach out to you on the latest news regarding ECCO's e-Learning platform.

The 2020 ECCO Congress took place only four months ago in Vienna, however the world has changed in an unprecedented manner since then – as the COVID-19 pandemic took hold and flipped the globe on its head and shifting individuals even more towards e-learning solutions, educational websites, and the organisation of webinars and teleconferences. Only now, as the crisis is beginning to loosen its grip, has ECCO been able to slowly get back to business and I am glad to let you know, that knowledge in the world of IBD does not stop growing. Nor does the ever-expanding world of ECCO's e-Learning.

As you all know, during most of ECCO meetings, we try to organise the recording of various e-Learning elements, these usually being Educational Audio Podcasts, Talking Heads Videos, and Skills Videos. The last ECCO Congress was no exception and we recorded several new Educational Audio Podcasts on the following topics:

- Antibiotics
- Steroids
- Adalimumab
- Tofacitinib

Three new Talking Heads videos were also recorded, one of which is part of the long-standing Transatlantic Talking Heads series. See all of the Talking Heads recordings below:

- Top Strategy Trials – 3rd Edition
- Transatlantic Talking Heads on Opioids and Pain Management

Moreover, check out the latest videos on ECCO's brand new e-Guide 2.0 and the paediatric IBD calculators contained therein. These short introductory videos instruct users on how to utilise the PDAI, wPDAI, and the PUCAI scores. Please make sure to accept the Terms & Conditions first, before continuing to the Resources section where you can find the paediatric IBD calculators.

Last but not least, check out the latest Skills Video on Endoscopic Assessment of the pouch!

Make sure to check out all of these new recordings and much more on the e-Learning platform of ECCO!

Yours truly,
